

Please don't change the NJ Do Not Call Law. I've gone from receiving several calls a night to no calls. With both my wife and I working full time jobs, it's nice to come home and have quality time with our two young sons without being unnecessarily disturbed. I work in market research and understand the need for telemarketers to call people, but it should be people who opt-in to there service and volunteer to be called. My phone number and other personal information, especially my email address, should be private and givenout to only those people I want to have and use them.

Thank you for listening,
Marc Rosner
